CAR IS HIT BY TRAIN.

Many People Hurt at Oakland.

Baseball Enthusiasts Thrown Out of Windows of an Electric Coach.

Dillon of the Los Angeles Team Has Close Escape from Death.

Motorman Pittman Says the Brakes Would Not Hold. The Injured.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
OAKLAND, Aug. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Shortly before 5 o'clock tonight, a Telegraph avenue electric car, while crossing the Key Route track, was struck by a Key Route train bound for San Francisco.

Three minutes before the collision occurred, the electric car had stopped at Idora Park and taken on a load of people who had just witnessed the baseball game between the San Francisco and Los Angeles teams.

DILLON ON BOARD.
Among those who boarded the car were Frank Dillon, captain of the Los Angeles team; Johnnie Gochsauer, shortstop; George S. Hodson, the umpire; and George Wheeler, San Francisco's shortstop. The rest of the Los Angeles team were on the car just ahead.

The car, after leaving Idora Park, made a stop at the power-house on Forty-fifth street to change crews. N. A. Pittman, the motorman, threw his power on full and dashed down Telegraph avenue at terrific speed.

STUCK IN THE CENTER.
Pittman failed to stop at Fortieth street, where the Key track crosses. A Key train came dashing along and struck the electric car in the center, having it twenty feet from the track.

PASSENGERS INJURED.
Passengers were thrown in all directions, some going through the windows at it shot from catapults. Some sustained serious cuts and bruises. Others had legs and arms fractured.

IN A PANIC.
The 300 passengers on the Key Route were in a state of panic. Some of the injured were carried into the station to a grocery store and private houses nearby, while others lay on the sidewalk screaming for help, awaiting the arrival of doctors and ambulances to take them to the hospitals.

The passengers on the street car realized the impending accident, but the car was a long, closed affair, and only those on the rear platform were able to jump. Those who escaped injury in this manner were City Councilman Fitzgerald, City Clerk Holland and the conductor of the wrecked car. The last car on the Key route train was dithered, and traffic was delayed until late this evening.

AMONG THE INJURED.
Among the injured are the following:
MRS. FRANK BURTON, seriously cut about head.
D. V. OLSEN, scalp wounds.
MRS. R. A. ROSE, Alameda, left arm injured.
JAMES ST. JOHN, Oakland, pinned under car, left arm broken, ribs broken, and ankle crushed.
L. BLOOM, Oakland, ribs fractured, left side, internal injuries.
F. E. DILLON, Los Angeles baseball team, deep gash over eye, contusions on body.
GEORGE S. HODSON, baseball umpire, thrown twenty feet through car window, scalp wounds.
G. L. WHEELER, San Francisco baseball team, contusions on body.
ALBERT SAUBERG, Alameda, ribs broken.
MRS. MARGARET WELCH, Oakland, ear torn off, face gashed.
EDITH PARKER, Oakland, arm torn.
MRS. HENRY DISMALL, Oakland, arm broken.
T. C. SHENNEY, Point Richmond, nose torn off.
WILLIAM PITTMAN, motorman of wrecked street car, deep scalp wounds, leg crushed, and a number of minor hurts.

DILLON FITCHED OUT.
Dillon, who was standing on the front platform, was pitched headlong through a glass door on the side and landed on his head, twenty feet away. His escape from instant death was wonderful. Wheeler landed under the car without serious injury. He and Dillon were immediately conveyed to the East Bay Sanatorium, where their wounds were dressed. Afterwards, Dillon left for his room at the Hotel Gibson. When seen by The Times correspondent, he was lying on the bed with head and arms swathed in bandages. Dillon will leave for Los Angeles Monday night.

Johnnie Gochsauer escaped without injury. J. St. John, residence unknown, was pinned under the forward part of the Key train. After twenty minutes of hard work, the car was raised sufficiently to permit of his being released. His left arm was broken and badly crushed, necessitating amputation.

TOOK FIRE ON HIGH.

Big Balloon Bursts and Men Fall.

Joseph Moss and Wilson El- lenquist Are Burned and Badly Bruised.

Horror-Stricken Crowd at Flatbush Regains Senses and Saves Lives.

Aeronauts Unconscious Amid Flaming Mass on Reach- ing the Ground.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] William Ellenquist, 35 years old, of Brooklyn, and Joseph Moss, aged 24, of Williamsburg, two professional aeronauts, were severely injured by burns and contusions from falling from a burning balloon at Flatbush tonight.

For several weeks they have been making ascensions and doing parachute tests for an amusement concern at Bergen Beach. Seeking to vary the attraction, it had been advertised that the men would make an ascension last night from Flatbush and try to land near the show grounds at Bergen Beach.

RED HOT AIR BAG.
They used a large hot-air balloon, and a large crowd assembled in front of the Arlington Hotel at Avenue W and East Seventy-fifth street, Flatbush, to witness the inflation of the balloon and see the men make the start into the clouds.

At 7 o'clock everything was ready. A great cheer went up from the crowd as the big bag shot into the air, with the two performers waving their hats from the basket. Three thousand spectators watched the balloon as it rose upward.

REPORT AND LURCHING.
When it reached an altitude of about two hundred feet, there was a muffled report, a sudden lurching of the balloon sideways, and shouts of horror from the aeronauts.

A small flame was seen to curl out on one side of the bag. Puffs of smoke began to envelop it, and then the bulky thing commenced to settle rapidly.

Three thousand throats on the ground uttered exclamations of horror as the balloon gained momentum in its descent.

FLAMES AND COLLAPSE.
The flames grew brighter, the bag began to waver and then it seemed to collapse within about fifty feet from the ground and settle down in a mass of smoke and fire.

Both men clung to the burning basket until they were near the ground. Moss had climbed on the outside and hung by his hands, but Ellenquist remained in the basket with his head bent forward, trying to escape the fiery draughts.

PULLED OUT UNCONSCIOUS.
When the flaming mass of cotton and ropes struck the ground, fifty men sprang forward and dragged the men from their perilous position. Both were unconscious.

Moss had dropped about twenty feet, but the other man held on and fell with the basket. An ambulance was summoned from the Kings County Hospital, and it was found that Moss had suffered severe injuries internally, and that both were critically burned.

SLAV SHIP IN EXPERIMENT.
Companies Subsidized by the Government Try to Secure Immigrant Trade.

ODessa, Aug. 12.—The Jupiter, the pioneer ship of the Russian Steam Navigation and Trading Company, will sail from Odessa for New York at the end of September. She will be followed by a second ship in the middle of November. The trip to New York will occupy twenty days. The ship is more or less experimental, the company hoping to get the immigrant trade from the south of Russia. It was started in emulation of the Volny fleet line from Libau to New York. If the venture is successful the two companies next year will inaugurate regular sailings. Both companies are subsidized by the government.

FAIR AUTHORS USE CURS WORDS.

New England Women Readers Shocked by the Frequency of Tabooed Expressions.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BOSTON, Aug. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] New England women are much stirred up over the swearing propensities exhibited by the literary creations of their pet women novelists.

Mrs. Mary E. Wilkins Freeman and Mrs. Margaret Deland, in their latest books.

In Mrs. Freeman's book, there are two big round curs words in the opening chapter, one cussed by a workman and the other by a fledgling doctor, who met in his lunch car. While Mrs. Freeman used most of her curs words with a dash, Mrs. Deland comes out boldly not once, but many times, and married New Englanders sit open-mouthed.

"Gads-a-mercies" is a common expression used by one of Mrs. Deland's characters, and dashes are sprinkled all through the book.

SHERIFF'S SHOT CAUSES HAVOC.

BAD MIX-UP IN FORT WORTH, TEX., OWL CAR.

Officer Endeavors to Chase Negro With Revolver But When Cartridge Explodes and Bullet Passes Through Young Woman Near Her Heart and Also Hits a Passenger.

FORT WORTH (Tex.) Aug. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The "Jim Crow" street-car law in effect in this city last night for the dangerous shooting of a nineteen-year-old girl, the less serious wounding of a young man by the same bullet, which played its way through the body of the girl, the wounding of a woman by the accidental impact of a big Colt .45-cal. revolver with her head, a pretty badly broken-up negro, and the arrest of a "heriff" of the State of Texas on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder.

The difficulty occurred on a Rosen Heights street car, North Fort Worth. The car was crowded with passengers, and Sheriff D. S. Dinwiddie of Clarksville sat down on an end seat reserved for negroes that already was partially occupied by a negro. The conductor of the car requested the sheriff to get up, which he did, and moved to another seat.

Some women entered the car and were standing in the aisle when the sheriff sat down and requested the negro to give the ladies his seat. This the negro refused to do, and started for the sheriff like a mad bull, when the officer whipped out his pistol and struck him on the head.

The weapon was accidentally discharged, the ball passing through the body of Miss Beulah Hodgins just above the heart, and entered the arm of R. F. Horn, standing just beyond her, causing a serious wound.

Another blow at the negro struck Mrs. S. C. Arbuckle on the head, producing a severe cut and bruise. There was a panic on the car, many passengers jumping off while it was in motion, the negro among them.

The wounded required prompt surgical attention, but the condition of Miss Hodgins is quite serious, and it is said she will not recover.

Sheriff Dinwiddie was arrested on a charge of assault and released on bond in the sum of $1000.

The national convention of the American Women's Press Association also will be held in Minneapolis, beginning tomorrow, and the "Union Veterans' National Encampment" will begin at St. Paul the same day. This encampment will continue until Wednesday.

Fully 50,000 people, according to the railroad, have poured into this city during the past forty-eight hours for the encampment of the Grand Army. It is believed that by Monday the encampment officially commences tomorrow, the programme will not become effective until Tuesday morning, and from that time until the close of the week, it promises to be one of the most stirring encampments ever held by the Grand Army.

There are at least half a dozen candidates for the honor of being the next commander of the organization, and the contest promises to become warm before it is decided. Aside from the work of the encampment, there will be many social functions, and these will continue throughout the week.

Steamer Sainara Turned Into a Shambles—Robbery of the Living. Captain, Though Shot in the Chest, Lives and Guides the Boat into Port.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
VICTORIA, Aug. 12.—Details of the attack on the British steamer Sainara by Chinese pirates off the West River and the murder of Dr. McDonald, a missionary, and some of the crew were received by the steamer Mont Eagle, which arrived from the Orient yesterday.

There were only three foreigners on board, Capt. Joslin, the chief engineer, and Dr. McDonald of the Westman mission at Wu Chow. The three white men were chatting on the deck, when seventy passengers dropped their disguises and started to shoot the crew.

Capt. Joslin was shot in the chest. Dr. McDonald was struck by a bullet fired at close range, and instantly killed. Capt. Joslin, realizing the impossibility of reaching the bridge, threw himself on the deck in the passenger cabin, pretending to be dead.

The pirates tore off his coat and trousers and a ring from his finger, and left him, after giving him a number of kicks. He remained motionless, the pirates being deceived into thinking him dead.

The chief engineer hid under the boilers, and after searching for him an hour, the pirates turned their attention to the passengers and crew, robbing them of everything they possessed.

On arrival at Sanshui, the piracy was reported to the H.M.S. Morchen, which started in pursuit, and captured some of the pirates.

STORIES OF THE SULTAN.

Turkish Officials Forbid Publication of Matter Concerning the State of His Health.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)
CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 12.—The officials inform callers at the palace that the Sultan was suffering from the effects of a chill during the past week, but that he has now completely recovered. His physicians, however, advised His Majesty not to risk exposure to the open air, and hence the abandonment of the Selamluk Friday.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Industry in the West has taken on greater headway in the last few days than at any time for several years, as a result of the influences directly traceable to the crops now being harvested or immediately in sight.

The government report on the wheat and corn crop had the effect of stimulating business, for whatever fears of pessimistic ideas had been dispelled when the figures were announced. There is no doubt now that this is to be the greatest year in the West's history.

YSTER BAY, Aug. 12.—Miss Ann L. Esac, who is summing in Oyster Bay for the purpose of interviewing the President or Mrs. Roosevelt on what she declares is "a matter of life and death," created a scene during the service in the Christian Episcopal Church today.

Miss Esac, or Miss Esac, as her name is supposed to be, has attended every church meeting the President has attended here since July. She has climbed Sagamore Hill on foot several times, only to be turned away by the secret service men.

She presented herself early today at the church, and took a seat directly behind the pew usually occupied by the President's family. When Usher James Duffy requested her to relinquish this seat, she refused.

IS FORCIBLY REMOVED.
Duffy forcibly removed her to the rear of the church, and Miss Esac says he tore her gown in doing so. For this act she later applied for a warrant for Duffy, but was refused.

In the rear of the church, Miss Esac refused to sit down. A secret service agent stood beside her, and during the service she made no less than a dozen attempts to get past him.

SHOUTED AT PRESIDENT.
As the President was leaving the church, the secret service men surrounded Miss Esac, but she shouted: "Mr. President! Mr. President! President Roosevelt! Won't you speak to me a moment!"

The President turned his head as he passed, but he did not pause. Miss Esac says her watch chain was broken in this scuffle and her watch fell to the floor.

The President was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Quentin and Representative and Mrs. Longworth.

DISCUSSED HER "WRONG."
Miss Esac has stated to those with whom she has become acquainted here that she was to have been married in three weeks, at the time Miss Roosevelt became Mrs. Longworth; that she was to have married a high government official, and it is this wrong she seeks to redress.

When the President's carriage had departed, Miss Esac was allowed to go. It was then she sought a warrant for Duffy. She says she will stay in Oyster Bay until she accomplishes her purpose.

Representative and Mrs. Longworth expect to leave for Washington and Cincinnati tomorrow.

The local police and the State's attorney's office continued their inquiries today. Inspector Shippy questioned more than a dozen of the institution's employees, seeking information from watchmen, book-keepers, assistant tellers and other minor officials.

One book-keeper's son was compliant of the shaky condition of the bank previous to July 14, the date on which young Stensland first suspected irregularities on the part of his father. Other employees told the inspector of midnight trips to the bank by President Stensland and Cashier Herring.

REMEDIES FOR ANARCHISM.

Bonaparte Would Enforce Death Penalty.

For Non-Assassins Term of Strict Seclusion.

Published and Spoken Utterances Punishable.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-F.M.)

CUMBERLAND (Md.) Aug. 12.—Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte delivered an address this evening at the Allegany Chautauque, near Cumberland, before a large gathering of his subject being "Anarchy and Its Remedy." The Secretary said, in part: "Anarchy is the product of two conditions which prevail to a greater or less extent everywhere among the less enlightened classes of modern civilization, namely the decay of religious faith and a measure of superficial and therefore unsound, popular education."

"It is sometimes said that anarchy and socialism, as systems, are mutually antipodal and destructive, but, to my mind, this view of their relations is altogether superficial. They are two divergent stems growing from the same root. That root is the doctrine that all men of right ought to be equal, therefore, be made and kept precisely equal."

"How can it be cured? If we mean to cure it in a day, month, a year, a decade, I answer unhesitatingly—not at all. Anarchy will not be removed within a given time, or through a special measure of set of officers."

"PERHAPS AND POSSIBLY."

"It will be years, perhaps for generations, a source of some peril to our public men, a source of some annoyance and some anxiety, possibly at times, of some alarm to the American people."

"It is the product of causes which cannot be eradicated by legislation, however drastic, of causes which lie deep in the scheme of modern civilization."

"I believe that anarchy has been already made less, and can be made much less dangerous and harmful by being dealt with seriously and rationally."

"In the first place, the unlawful acts prompted by anarchy should be made crimes, insofar as they are not, strictly speaking, crimes already, and, as crimes, they should be visited with such penalties as are particularly distasteful to the criminals, and, therefore, the most effective deterrents to crime."

EXECUTE DEATH PENALTY.

"On anarchy, the death penalty should be unequivocally imposed by law, and inflexibly executed, whenever the prisoner has sought, directly or indirectly, to take life, or offenses of less gravity, I advise a comparatively brief, but very rigorous imprisonment, characterized by complete seclusion, privation of all comforts, and denial of any form of distraction, and which could be, to my mind, advanced as a more effective deterrent, but not a public whipping, the lash, of all punishments, most clearly shows the culprit that he suffers for what his fellow-men believe he deserves, and not merely for reasons of public policy."

PIESSE AND ROSTRUM.

"Any abridgment, for fear of anarchy, of the freedom of speech, and of the press guaranteed us by our State and Federal Legislatures would be neither a wise nor a worthy policy; but these privileges in nowise shield criminals of crime nor instigators of disorders and rebellion. Any change, however sweeping, in our laws and government may be urged, and any arguments, however wild or grotesque, advanced to justify them, provided the method of change can be orderly and lawful; but a published writing recommending the murder of the chief magistrate and violent overthrow of the government is a seditious libel at common law, and there is no good reason why this should not become a substantial offense, without regard to its consequences, as is a criminal conspiracy."

GOOD SENSE ESSENTIAL.

"The final and most truly vital condition of success in riding the country of anarchy in practice is that American public opinion should recognize the utter emptiness, the inherent folly of its theory and of all the kindred ready-made, furnished-half-you-wait schemes for the social regeneration of mankind."

CIVILIZED SOCIETY, AS IT EXISTS TODAY, IF IT BE NOTHING MORE, IS THE OUTCOME OF ALL STRIVING FOR JUSTICE AND HAPPINESS OF THE HUMAN RACE DURING THOUSANDS OF YEARS.

"What monstrous presumption, what preposterous conceit, for any man, were he the wisest, the most earnest, the most ideal, to imagine that, with but the aid, flickering lights of his own dull, feeble mind, with but the feeblest of human knowledge, his own short, ill-placed life to guide him, he could cut down and build up again this incredibly vast, this infinitely complex fabric, and improve on its structure."

THROWN FROM TRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—George Moe, 18 years old, was killed and Miss Minnie Gueschke, 17 years old, was severely injured, in an accident on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad, at McCook, Ill., tonight. When the train carrying union teamsters back to Chicago from a picnic was passing through McCook, a broken air-brake tube caused the separation of the mail car from the main body of the train. Moe and Miss Gueschke, who were standing on the platform, were thrown to the ground by the sudden lurch of the train. Moe was ground to pieces by the wheels of the rear car, and Miss Gueschke was saved from death only by her skirts catching on a brake beam.

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

With thousands of people near by, including many in bathing suits, a fire broke out in the Jacob Weidmeyer of Toledo and Harry Steinmeyer of Springfield, each aged about 18 years, were drowned in a surf yesterday afternoon at Sandusky, O. It is supposed that the young men got beyond their depth and were overwhelmed by the waves.

car containing fifty persons on the Cleveland and Eastern Traction line jumped the track eight miles southwest of Chardon, O., injuring eight persons, some of them seriously, and nearly drowning a dozen others in a large stagnant pool into which the car plunged.

REMARKABLE desert journey was made a few days ago in a Jackson automobile, driven by J. W. Robbins of this city, accompanied by a mining engineer named McGinnis, and a local guide, en route to Gila Bend, Ariz., to run from this point to the Rescue Copper mines at Ajo, near the international boundary. It was a sixty-mile run from water to water, under a scorching sun across the hottest part of the great Colorado Desert. A thermometer was carried and the lowest temperature registered was 105 deg. Fahrenheit at the Ajo end, the car top temperature was 120 deg. and the average was 120 deg.

Four trips were made over a little-used route, before Robbins returned to Los Angeles, after turning the car over to one of the men at the mines, who was to take it to the next town, where which is the only connection the mines have with civilization and the railroad.

At Black Gap, this route, have been a number of hold-ups in the past,

AUTO'S DESERT RUN UNDER BURNING SUN

D. W. Robbins and Mining Engineer McGane going across the desert from Gila Bend, Ariz., to mines in Mexico. Below is Black Gap, scene of many hold-ups.

A REMARKABLE desert journey was made a few days ago in a Jackson automobile, driven by D. W. Robbins of this city, accompanied by a mining engineer named McGane. The car was shipped from Los Angeles to Gila Bend, Ariz., to run from that point to the Rescue Copper mines at Ajo, near the international boundary.

It was a sixty-mile run from water and gasoline to similar supplies, and across the hottest part of the great Colorado Desert. A thermometer was carried and the lowest temperature registered was 105 deg. Fahrenheit. Under the shade of the car top the average was 120 deg.

Four trips were made over a little-used route, before Robbins returned to Los Angeles, after turning the car over to one of the men at the mines, who will continue driving it over this route, which is the only connection the mines have with civilization and the railroad.

At Black Gap, on this route, have been a number of hold-ups in the past.

the point being where two black lava hills of considerable size guard the road like Scylla and Charybdis of old. Last year a steam car was tried for this run, but the heat was so intense that it was impossible to supply water enough, and after a ten-mile trip the machine was hauled back, and is still in storage.

Robbins says that on one of his trips he tried to use a monkey wrench, and though it was carried under the seat, out of the sun's rays, it was too hot to be held in his bare hands. Evaporation of the gasoline amounted to over a gallon and a half a day, and on removing the front seat cushion the vapor from the gasoline tank could be felt eighteen inches above the vent hole.

The road is but a trail, and it was necessary at times to cut a trench in the center for the chain and rear sprocket wheel, and many times it was easier to dig among the sage brush than to try to keep in the deep ruts of the old trail. The car was also used part of the time for prospecting far from any road or trail.

As the heat at midnight at Ajo is about 80 deg., it behooves an automobile man in that part of the country to do as little roadside repairing as possible.

BOY'S BLOOD EXCITES CROWD.

POLICE PREVENT A MOB FROM ATTACKING ITALIAN.

Little Newboy Was Struck Down by Fruit Dealer, Who Was Forced to Hold Angry Men at Bay With a Knife and Club Until Rescued by Detail of Police.

Angered at the sight of the blood-covered, unconscious form of Henry Schon, a 10-year-old newboy, lying on the sidewalk in front of Belbaldi & Ogiliano's fruit stand, No. 406 South Main street, a mob of nearly two hundred persons tried to attack J. Belbaldi, just evening about 7 o'clock, and would have dragged him into the street had not Patrolman McGann held the throng in check until a detail of police arrived.

Hoarse cries of men mingled with the shrill piping of women and children in a call for vengeance, attracted the attention of the officer. Dashing toward the fruit store at top speed the officer made his way to the doorway and there held the rapidly gathering mob at bay until more officers arrived to disperse them.

In company with several other "newbies" Henry was making his way north on Main street. As they passed the fruit store one of the newboys knocked off Schon's hat. At the same time two of the larger boys pulled a bunch of bananas from a hook and ran with them. Belbaldi was standing in the doorway and saw the lad's deed, and picking up a big tin horn, Belbaldi jabbed Schon in the forehead, inflicting an ugly wound. For several seconds the title fellow staggered backward and forward among the crowd of busy pedestrians and then dropped in a faint. Several persons saw the affair and rushed to the boy's side.

People of all ages and classes, who were passing, heard of the affair and rushed to the scene. The sight of the blood trickling down the lad's face as he lay on the sidewalk, filled them with indignation. Goaded to frenzy by the attitude of the Italian fruit dealer they surged toward him, but he held them back by displaying a ugly knife and a club until the police arrived.

Young Schon was removed to the Receiving Hospital where the police surgeons dressed his wounds. Later he was sent to his home, at Twenty-second street and Vermont avenue.

For fear of another demonstration an officer was stationed at the fruit stand for several hours after.

BIRDS FLY IN DEATH PERIL.

Oregon Homing Pigeons Cross Four Ranges.

Arrive Exhausted After Long Trip Over Snowy Peaks.

Only Three Fliers Have Ever Accomplished Journey.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

PORTLAND (Or.) Aug. 2.—From Dunsuir, Cal., to their loft in this city, a distance of 440 miles by rail and more than 200 miles by air line, across four intervening mountain ranges, including the Siiskiyous, where many of the peaks are covered with snow, in the remarkable flight that has just been made by two small homing pigeons belonging to E. H. Bauer of No. 1247 Williams avenue, this city. The two pigeons are the only birds to reach the home loft out of a flock of six which were released at Dunsuir, the other four having perished from the exposure or having become lost during the long and perilous journey.

This is the second time any homing pigeon has crossed the Siiskiyous Range over thirty years, but one other bird having ever accomplished the feat. Almost every season for many years pigeon fanciers have tried to send their hardest birds over the lofty peaks, but they have invariably failed. Last year a bird belonging to Dr. Belbridge of Oakland, Cal., released from here during the exposition, reached its home loft in Oakland safely. It was the first homer to fly across the Siiskiyous since the beginning of the trials thirty years ago.

"Tom and 'Jerry'." Mr. Bauer's prize little birds, who have just accomplished the feat, are full of pluck and gameness. When a week passed after they had been released by an express messenger at Dunsuir and no sign of them had appeared, Mr. Bauer began to think that all of the six pigeons had perished. After two weeks he felt sure of it.

Several evenings ago, seventeen days after the flight began, he was inspecting the loft at his home and was surprised to see a pigeon flop helplessly in distress to the ground. The bird was scarcely able to beat its wing in recognition of its master. It was "Tom." The exhausted flyer was too weak to reach the door of the loft.

Mr. Bauer picked up the bird and placed it tenderly in the cage. An hour later "Jerry" came fluttering into the cage, not quite so exhausted as his mate, but still unable to enter the loft. Both pigeons had been reduced to mere skin and bones. They are now recovering nicely and shows but little injury from their arduous trip.

The remarkable part of the return of the birds is not the distance traversed. Neither is the time especially notable. Over a level course 400 miles could be readily traversed by an ordinary homing pigeon in seven or eight hours. The great achievement was in crossing four ranges of mountains.

Time and again young homers, the progeny of eastern birds that could easily fly 1000 or even 1500 miles under favorable conditions, have been dismal failures here. The mountains are trying to wear them out in trying to soar over even the smallest peaks and fail to return. Pacific Coast fanciers have been compelled to develop a hardy class of birds with superior intelligence and instinct to guide them over the lofty barriers.

Mr. Bauer has been breeding homers for a number of years with the intention of having them fly over the Siiskiyous and eventually from San Francisco and even farther south. He has had much patience in developing his two birds, "Tom" and "Jerry," for if he has lost one bird he has lost 100, but he has not relaxed his energy or ambition in the face of repeated failure. He expects to try the flight from Oakland to Portland with the two birds next year.

The Oregon Homer Club, which has been flying pigeons for several years and under whose auspices "Tom" and "Jerry" made their successful journey, is now conducting annual try-out races for the purpose of selecting birds for the long flights. Last Sunday twenty-three of the pigeons were released at Salem, Or., and all successfully accomplished the fifty-mile flight. Next Sunday the birds will be released at Eugene, and the week following at Roseburg, and finally, in three weeks for the last race of the season, from Grant's Pass, in Southern Oregon. The survivors of this flight will be trained for next year's journey over the Siiskiyous.

Homing races will be conducted each afternoon during the coming State fair at Salem. Mr. Bauer, owner of "Tom" and "Jerry," is president of the Oregon Homer Club.

FIRE IN WAREHOUSE.

Crossed Electric Light Wires Caused Blaze Which Causes Serious Loss to Storage Company.

Fire, caused by crossed electric wires in the warehouse of the McVean Veneer and Storage Company, at No. 948 East Second street, was discovered at 4:20 o'clock yesterday morning and before the flames were finally drowned out by the firemen the building and its contents had been damaged to the extent of $7000. The electric light wires running into the building became crossed in some way just where they passed through a wooden window frame. The woodwork around the window, which was in the second story, caught fire and the blaze was soon communicated to the furniture and household goods stored on the floor.

Pigeons that flew from Dunsuir to Portland, three hundred miles, over four mountain ranges.

Two alarms were turned in and the fire department responded promptly, but the fire had gained a good foothold in the inflammable material with which the second story was packed, and it was three hours before the fire was out. The warehouse is a two-story brick structure and was crammed full of furniture and other merchandise. Practically everything on the second floor except the contents of a small room in the front of the building was destroyed.

On the ground floor several dozen stoves and a quantity of new furniture were stored. The fire did very little damage on this floor, but the place was flooded with water. The entire roof was burned off the building and it was damaged in other ways. Owing to the fact that the records of the company had been carried out and stored in different places, the various owners of the goods stored in the place could not be learned. The damage on the contents of the warehouse is estimated at $5000 and it is understood this is covered by insurance. The company estimates the damage to their building at $2000, fully covered by insurance.

King Edward is to visit Emperor William this week, the official announcement having been made that the meeting will take place at Friedrichs Castle, near Hamburg, August 15. Much importance is attached to the meeting between the two monarchs.

THE CITY IN BRIEF

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Wrist Fractured.

Charles Berkowitz, No. 5245 East Fifth street, fell at the Panoramia shooting rink last evening and sustained a compound fracture of the left wrist. Six months ago Berkowitz fell from a street car and sustained a fracture of the same wrist.

Thieves Steal Trunks.

Thieves broke open the showcase in front of T. L. Caroe's trunk factory on South Spring street early yesterday morning and secured about $25 worth of leather goods. The job was a particularly bold one, as the store is only a few doors removed from the Orpheum Theater.

Complainant Slept.

J. H. Burton, a drunken negro, was ejected from a Matco street electric car at First and San Pedro streets last evening about 5 o'clock, because he insisted upon insulting every one on the car. Burton went to Central station to complain of the driver, but he had received, but while talking with the desk sergeant fell asleep and was locked in the City Jail.

Hurled from a Car.

E. T. Jewett of No. 208 East Main street fell from a Pasadena car yesterday afternoon at the point on Mission Road where the long line branches from the Pasadena Short Line. He was standing at the rear entrance to the car when it turned the curve with a jerk and threw him out. He landed on his head and was picked up by unassuming and was hurried to the Receiving Hospital, where he was revived. The police surgeons found he sustained only a slight scalp wound, and when he had recovered from the shock of his fall he was able to go to his home.

FURN FULTON CENTENNIAL.

France's Great International Maritime Exposition Will Be Held at Bordeaux in 1907.

Four years before Fulton made his first successful experiment on the Hudson River, with his newly devised steamboat, says the New York Tribune, he made preliminary experiments in steamboat navigation on the River Loire in France. It was in 1807 that he landed his little boat on the Hudson and conquered glory and fame by the success of his venture. To celebrate the centennial of the introduction of steam as a motor for boats an International Maritime Exposition is to be held in Bordeaux, France, opening in May and closing in November, 1907. It is proposed to celebrate this centennial by illustrating the history of navigation from the earliest times to the present day. Models will be collected of every kind of ship, ancient and modern, commercial and naval. In addition to this collection an illustrated display will be given of all that pertains to sea travel, and to the river and sea navigation. The exposition is being organized by the French Maritime League, of which Admiral Gervais, of the French navy, is president. It is under the official patronage of the government of France, of the general council of the department of La Gironde, the municipal government, Chamber of Commerce and the Philanthropic Society of Bordeaux.

The exposition is to be on a scale befitting the objects in view, and official notifications and an invitation to participate in the display have already been sent to the United States government. Several of the European governments have accepted the invitations sent them, but as yet the United States has taken no official action in the matter. E. Bertie, commissioner general, have opened offices near the American Consulate, in Bordeaux, and in those a vast amount of preliminary work is being done. The numerous buildings to be used in the displays are to be erected on the great square of the "Quinconce" and will be architecturally beautiful, as well as appropriate to the objects for which they are designed. The square is about thirty acres in area, facing the River Gironde.

The exposition will afford excellent opportunities for American manufacturers of motor boats, canoes, life-saving appliances, optical and nautical instruments, etc., not only to show the superiority of the products of American industry and enterprise, but to increase greatly their export business. It is expected that the American display will be a large and noteworthy one. All information regarding success of the exposition, space and other details will be furnished by the Commissioner General. The charge to exhibitors for space will be from 10 to 40 francs (franc equals 19.3 cents American money) for each superficial meter (10.76 square feet). Condi D. I. Murphy, the representative of the United States at Bordeaux, offers his services to intending exhibitors to aid them in obtaining space and advantages.

ENCOURAGER OF LAZINESS.

Tea-Making Device Made in Europe, Which Does the Work Automatically.

Another device for the encouragement of laziness, and one that permits one to enjoy at least a quarter of an hour's more sleep in the morning, has just been perfected by an amateur living in Europe, says the New York Herald. The novel mechanical apparatus boils water and makes a cup of tea, with milk and sugar, hot and ready to be taken at any hour the user decides he wants it. The night before, for all he has to do is to set an alarm clock, which is attached to the mechanical cook, and then take several times the usual forty winks, when, presto! there is his steaming cup of English breakfast or Ceylon without his having lifted a finger or so much as opened an eyelid.

Of course, preparations have to be made the night before for this light morning meal, but they are not a bit more trouble than if you had an ordinary gas range, and there is such a difference in the morning! Only those who have tried it can appreciate the difference.

When the alarm clock goes off an electric light is turned on and a spirit lamp bursts into a tube, which has the other end placed over a china cup, in which has already been put a tea ball, with cream and sugar. If one likes, only enough boiling water to fill the cup is allowed to pass through the tube, so that if the weary sleeper does not duly over his first cup he may have another cup piping hot without any personal effort.

The advantage of this novel device will be thoroughly appreciated by bachelors and bachelor girls who do light housekeeping. Probably some of them will next call for an automatic machine that will boil an egg, toast bread and fry a slice of bacon.

BIRDS SHUN DEEP SEA.

But Will Use Shallow Oceans as a "Pathway"—Madagascar Straits Impassable for Them.

Frank Chapman of the New York Museum of Natural History has been writing about the birds of England, which he finds numerous but of fewer species than those of this country. Curiously enough only one of hundreds of varieties is common to both countries.

A writer in the London Outlook points out that no birds cross deep, even if narrow, seas. The Madagascan straits are impassable to birds, though the North Sea is a highway for them. Godwits pass from the Nile to the shores of Norfolk, though neighboring islands in an archipelago may show no common stock.

All birds, with the possible exception of the sparrow, are stirred to movement by different causes—wind, weather, food, the bullying of parent and other birds. Birds of prey drive off their young. Martins love familiar eaves; successive ravens have built on the same ledge for centuries.

The longer passages are only made over shallow seas that once were land, and when once a journey is made the memory is strong enough to urge a repetition. The change of home then becomes not a fashion but an inherited habit.

DEATH CLAIMS

PIONEER WOMAN.

FOUNDER OF U.S.C. SUCCEUMS TO GRIM REAPER.

Mrs. Sarah E. Frambes, Fifty Years an Educator and Home Missionary, Passes Away Peacefully. Began Teaching When Only Sixteen. Leaves Sister and Two Brothers.

Mrs. Sarah E. Frambes, widow of Rev. W. S. Frambes and one of the well-known women of Los Angeles, died suddenly at her home at No. 205 East Fourth street yesterday morning at 2 o'clock. She passed away so quietly that the friends with her could scarcely tell when death came.

Thirty years ago Rev. and Mrs. Frambes founded the University of Southern California, which was then known as the Los Angeles Academy. Mrs. Frambes was preceptor, and to her untiring energy was due the measure of success which came to the school even in those early days.

Her life as a teacher began at the age of 16, when she taught several years prior to taking a position in Ohio Wesleyan College at Delaware, O. In 1858 she removed with her parents to Salem, Somerset county, Cal., and later entered the University of the Pacific and graduated with honors in the spring of 1860. Soon after her graduation she married Rev. Frambes, who was then an instructor in the Methodist school at Santa Clara.

After Mr. and Mrs. Frambes removed to Los Angeles and early in 1878 the Methodist school was established in a small building near the site of the University on Wesley avenue.

With a faith that was large, the educational enterprise was launched and for many years the chief supporters of the school were its founders. There were many who prophesied dismal failure for the cause of education in the southland, so for many years the efforts of the two workers were rewarded only by seeing a mere handful of students attend the college.

The untiring energy of the pair finally brought a large measure of success, and at the time the college passed from the experimental stage and was on the high road toward success.

After her years of work as an educator, Mrs. Frambes became identified with the missionary work of the Methodist Church and devoted much of her time to the work in the home field. She was given charge of home missions in Southern California and Arizona a number of years ago.

Following the death of her husband, on January 11 of this year, the health of Mrs. Frambes began to fail. She suffered from heart paralysis and recovered only partially. She never fully recovered from the shock.

With her when she died was her sister, Mrs. V. P. Zinnwald, 515 Broad street. There are two brothers, B. A. Stephens of No. 300 Bartlett street, and H. W. Stephens of Pacific Grove.

HOW TO KEEP SOBER.

Queen Alexandra, It is Said, Recommends Wearing of Amethyst as Anti-Jag Remedy.

Queen Alexandra, says the Philadelphia Press, has established a fashion for the amethyst, for the reasons that it is cheap and that it will encourage trade in Ireland. For precisely these same reasons Queen Victoria tried to establish a fashion for Irish poplin.

That effort of statesmanship failed of success, and there is little reason to hope for success with the amethyst. It is only queens and other folk of assured station who can afford to be seen with cheap things on. Those who merely aspire must have the real goods.

No suggestion is made that Queen Alexandra had any ulterior motive in recommending this form of quartz. It symbolizes deep and pure love. It is the month stone of February, and is consecrated to St. Matthew the Apostle. But its wonder charm, that which gives it its name, is as a specific to ward off inebriety, a sort of mineralogical anti-brannigan amulet.

Pliny the elder solemnly records this feature in his treatise on all things knowable. Similar properties of gems he records without any sort of qualification, but concerning the amethyst he says that such was the belief of the magi and by them handed down.

Pliny was admiral of the Roman fleet stationed in the Bay of Naples, and as a sailor he may have doubted that more than a few could bring his men over the rail after shore liberty with a clean and sober record. To secure the effect, he says, the amethyst should be worn around the neck on a braid of hair from the dog-faced baboon and the plume of the heron.

BIRDS SHUN DEEP SEA.

But Will Use Shallow Oceans as a "Pathway"—Madagascar Straits Impassable for Them.

Frank Chapman of the New York Museum of Natural History has been writing about the birds of England, which he finds numerous but of fewer species than those of this country. Curiously enough only one of hundreds of varieties is common to both countries.

A writer in the London Outlook points out that no birds cross deep, even if narrow, seas. The Madagascan straits are impassable to birds, though the North Sea is a highway for them. Godwits pass from the Nile to the shores of Norfolk, though neighboring islands in an archipelago may show no common stock.

All birds, with the possible exception of the sparrow, are stirred to movement by different causes—wind, weather, food, the bullying of parent and other birds. Birds of prey drive off their young. Martins love familiar eaves; successive ravens have built on the same ledge for centuries.

The longer passages are only made over shallow seas that once were land, and when once a journey is made the memory is strong enough to urge a repetition. The change of home then becomes not a fashion but an inherited habit.

Marconi Wireless Telegraphy Will Revolutionize the World

The best invention ever offered the public. We say this without contradiction. Don't wait until it is too late. This is a chance of a lifetime. It is advancing every day. We have some information that will make it advance still more rapidly. We have an option stock that was purchased when it was very low. We can sell it while it lasts very reasonable. In fact, we consider that it is in proportion that it was one year ago. There is not much more of it. When the company made up its books the 1st of January, 1906, only 23,000 shares left on its books. We do not think that it is wise to dispose of this. Our method of disposing of this stock gives with small means an equal chance. Remember that as soon as the first payment, from that day you have the benefits of all advanced Marconi sold recently for over 800 per cent. advance and you can at that. We have a much larger territory. We can sell you shares in our Canadian. See us before buying elsewhere. CUT THIS OUT AND IT TO U.S. Call or write for prospectus and terms.

MURDER MYSTERY OF MINERS' CANYON.

Some Plain Evidences of Crime that Appear to Have Been Ignored.

Victim Was Shot With a Rifle and Hastily Concealed Close to a Trail—Indications That Two Shots Were Fired—A Few Simple Deductions from Plain Physical Facts.

PIKE & ROSENFELD—Merchant Tailors
347 South Spring Street
Los Angeles, Cal.

Exhibits in Temescal Canyon murder case which may solve mystery as to identity of victim. Above is photograph of piece of cloth from murdered woman's dress showing bullet hole through two folds of the goods; 30-30 rifle cartridge shells found near the body; bent pin and safety pin apparently wrenched from dead woman's clothes. Below is a facsimile of receipt found a few feet from the body.

IF THE mystery of the Temescal Canyon murder remains unsolved, it will be because no intelligent examination of the body, no diligent search for material facts, was made in the beginning by those upon whom that duty devolved. So far as I can ascertain, the inquest was a perfunctory farce, and the autopsy amounted to nothing more than the extraction of the stomach for analysis on the theory that the woman might have taken poison.

Why look for poison as a cause of death, when an unmistakable bullet hole in the skull and what seems to be another in the breast are in evidence? The hole in the breast was noticed casually, but it appears that no examination was made to ascertain if there was a hole of exit in the back. The condition of the body seems to have deterred those who disposed of it from making any thorough examination.

Why look for poison as a cause of death, when an unmistakable bullet hole in the skull and what seems to be another in the breast are in evidence? The hole in the breast was noticed casually, but it appears that no examination was made to ascertain if there was a hole of exit in the back. The condition of the body seems to have deterred those who disposed of it from making any thorough examination.

From photographs of the skull and descriptions of the holes by reporters who saw them, I was reasonably satisfied that the wound in the head was made by a full-jacketed, small-caliber bullet. After giving that opinion, I was shown two rifle shells picked up about thirty feet from where the woman's body was found. They were shells of a 30-30 rifle, exactly the sort of weapon that could have made the wound in the head. The bullet entered the left side of the head and emerged on the right side, and the size of the hole of exit indicates that the bullet was full-jacketed, not a lead or a soft-nosed bullet.

That two shots were fired is highly probable. There is not only the hole in the body that seems to be a bullet wound—and might have been determined by simple examination of the back—but there is a bullet hole through a piece of the woman's skirt found in the brush. That bullet passed through a fold of cloth, making two holes, and there is blood on the cloth. It was the blood that induced some small animal to chew the piece of cloth and drag it into the brush.

But the rag was not torn from the dress by an animal. Two of the sides of the cloth are clean tears at right angles. It was torn off by hands, and there is a rag to wipe blood from a hand. The skirt was in disarray when the bullet passed through the fold of cloth—possibly pushed up over the body and covering the breast where the supposed wound was seen.

Although accurate examination of the surroundings was made impossible by the brilliant performance of an early investigator, who caused the concealing thicket to be cut away and grubbed out, it is evident that the woman was not shot where she was found. The thicket was not there when she was shot, but it had been there for some time, and it is evident that the woman was not shot where she was found. The thicket was not there when she was shot, but it had been there for some time, and it is evident that the woman was not shot where she was found.

WHO WAS WITH POSEY? HIS ACTIONS INVESTIGATED.

Deputy Sheriff Gilbert returned yesterday from Calabasas, where he has been investigating the story of "Posey" Horton, who found the body of the murdered girl in Temescal Canyon. Gilbert reported to the Santa Monica officers that the clew had not panned out. There proved to be nothing in the suspicious regarding Posey's actions, he said.

Officers are now looking into rumors regarding "Hemp" Horton, brother to Posey.

About five weeks ago it is said that "Hemp" came to Dan's coffee house in Ocean Park, with a girl known as Emma. It was at night and something of an uproar occurred because somebody shot a bottle of wine from the baggy. Horton's sister attempted to identify this girl at the morgue, however, as Emma Powers, and said absolutely that it was not she.

WHO WAS THIS WOMAN?

Harry Sexton runs the saloon in Santa Monica Canyon. His place is on the main road, and all travel up the beach must pass his place. He has frequently seen a girl going or returning to the Calabasas country. Sexton says "Hemp" Horton was camped for three or four months in the canyon. As described by Sexton, the woman, as described by Sexton, was probably about 30 years of age, and small of stature. They visited his bar several times, when they would take a drink and sit on the front steps. Sexton said they would sit there and talk some time, but he paid no heed to their conversation. He knows they were camped on the Buell place. Mrs. F. H. Buell remembers such a camping party, but does not recall how the woman was dressed, or the color of her clothing. The campers caused her no trouble, and she paid no attention to them. She had no acquaintance with them, and did not know whether it was a man and his wife or what the relationship was.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Everett live just above the long wharf. Their house is so situated that they are able to see all who come and go. They noticed Posey Horton coming down the beach last Sunday. At that time he was alone. The boy went back up the beach Tuesday, and when he came down Wednesday, shortly after noon, he reported having found the woman's body. On his Wednesday trip a woman accompanied him.

H. E. Smith, who is conducting some chemical experiments with salt water, lives in the first shack south of Temescal Canyon. As Horton and the woman came down the beach Wednesday, they told him of the discovery they had made in the canyon.

HAT GIVES NO CLEW.

The faintest of clews is being followed with avidity, even the finding of a woman's hat alongside the unused railway track just above Port Los Angeles and not more than a quarter of a mile from the mouth of the canyon where the evidence of the murder was discovered in the bones that would soon have been bleaching in the sun.

Curiously took hundreds of people into Temescal Canyon yesterday. Certainly they were not pleasure seekers. It would be difficult to find anywhere in the Santa Monica Mountain range a less attractive breathing spot. This otherwise pretty defile in the mountain has been made the last resting place of numerous loud-smelling deceased horses. Near where Posey Horton and his woman companion were lunching Wednesday when they found the body of the murdered woman are the bleaching bones of many horse carcasses.

These ill smelling witnesses bear mute evidence that it was no picnic or pleasure party that lured the unknown blonde into the canyon. One Santa Monica man was seen yesterday who had gone into the canyon a month ago for the purpose of finding an alibi for a man who had been charged with the murder. He had dragged the animal up the trail and in doing so necessarily passed within a few feet of the sitting corpse. He detected a strong odor, but thought nothing of it, as death in the form of horses confronted him at every turn.

MANY MISSING GIRLS.

FAMILY SKELETONS AIDED.
The finding of the murdered girl of Temescal Canyon has stirred up more skeletons than a pink tea party.

Dozens of families seem to have a faze-haired maiden who has vanished. Secretly that would ordinarily have been guarded to the grave are eagerly pouring into the newspaper columns.

Family skeletons are rattling at such a rate that amounts positively to a clatter of dry bones. Most of these have not been published as yet, upon investigation, they are found to have no bearing on the murder mystery.

One of the stories was of a little manure girl who got discouraged. It was a pitiful little story. She was little and shy—at first. She held herself apart from the barbers who worked in the shop where she manicured men's nails.

Most men manicure their nails with the family paper cutter while waiting for the breakfast bell or on the back end of a street car. So the little manicure girl who got discouraged, and he wasn't a very good man. He told the girl how she could wear good clothes and not work, etc., etc.

She cried when she paid the laundry man his bill in full, and told him to say good-by to the men at the shop, for she never would be there again. They saw her going by once or twice, overdressed and looking unhappy several times thereafter; then she dropped out of sight.

There was another woman from the foothills. Here was a story of fierce domestic infidelities, suspected morals, etc. But the queerest feature of the case was a letter received by her people in a strange handwriting—supporting to be from her, but obviously a forgery. She unexpectedly appeared alive, and the mystery of the counterfeit letter was never explained.

Another was the daughter-in-law of a distinguished Governor of an Eastern State.

The Governor's son to whom she was married was reported to be a swift spender. They had separated and she was said to be terribly afraid of him. She was bound to go to Honolulu, and he was bound she shouldn't go.

One of the spiky parts of this one was her meeting him on the street and tossing her nose in the air in answer to his pleading appeal. I guess you have mistaken me for some one else," was the cold greeting she gave him. She turned up, too, just in time to cut off any more interesting disclosures.

There was a waitress who strangely vanished from a beach town under queer circumstances.

There was a story of an old soldier who committed suicide and whose daughter disappeared queerly.

There were girls who had simply vanished for no reason; there were a plentiful supply of young women who had "gone on the town" and been discovered by families now turned to forgiveness.

As for wayward daughters who had left home in a huff, there have been many of them reported.

"OLD GLORY'S" DAY, IS THIS.

Sixtieth Anniversary of Our Flag-Raising.

Ceremonies Today at Old Fort Moore.

Famous History-Makers to Be Represented.

With a roar of cannon and a salute of guns, Old Glory will be raised on the site of Fort Moore over the Broadway tunnel at noon today in commemoration of the sixtieth anniversary of the planting of the Stars and Stripes in Los Angeles by Commodore Stockton and Gen. Fremont.

The exercises will be in charge of the military, assisted by representatives from the associations of the Mexican War Veterans, the Pioneers, the Native Sons and Native Daughters, and this important event in our State's history will be more fittingly commemorated than ever before.

It has been arranged in the evening to have interesting and entertaining exercises at Simpson Auditorium, the program to consist of excellent music, an oration, addresses and a brief review of early Los Angeles history.

Mayor McAlister has declared this first flag-raising by Stockton and Fremont sixty years ago—how different the scene of the throbbing metropolis of today from the scattered pueblo and barren blood-stained hills of the days of old—what a story it would be.

Mrs. Baker's sister, Mrs. Yildora de Costa, laughingly used to tell how Arcadia refused to admit that a red flannel petticoat was used in making that first flag, and the story of its raising has come down from Mrs. Costa, and is given here for the first time.

When the ship of Commodore Stockton hove to for a landing in the harbor of San Diego, most of the Spanish men in Old Town hurried to the hills. One, however, named Leonardo Costa, who, by the way, is still a resident of Los Angeles, dared to remain, and walked bravely through the plaza.

"Why do you see your flag taken down by the enemy?" called the beautiful Yildora to the young Spaniard.

"How can I get it down?" asked Costa, only too ready to sacrifice his life for the caprice of the flashing dark eyes that were gazing at him from under the long black lashes.

With scorn, Yildora pointed to the knife in Costa's boot. "Cut," she commanded, and Costa pulled the knife and hacked until the flag pole fell.

This is the story treasured by the house of Bandini, whose instant claim it is, that the Spanish flag flying in San Diego was never captured by Commodore Stockton.

Maj. Sherman is president of the association of Spanish War Veterans, and beside him will be Capt. J. A. Buchanan of Pasadena, a fine old veteran of the State's historic war. Gen. Sherman also had the distinction of having been grand marshal of the Division of the Pacific States and Territories at the funeral of Lincoln. He was a guard of honor at the Lincoln tomb, and, as such, "Star Spangled Banner" the date of burial, still carries the key to the tomb.

Following is the complete programme of exercises at Simpson Auditorium this evening: Introductory remarks, J.

MRS. ARCADIA BANDINI DE BAKER
Who helped make the first American flag raised on California soil.

afternoon a legal half-holiday and raised that citizens display the flag throughout the city.

The spirit of the days of old, when Los Angeles was but a pueblo, will be present on the hilltop this afternoon, and an unusual historic touch will permeate the ceremony. Mrs. Fremont's daughter, Gen. Fremont, will raise the flag, assisted by Maj. Edwin A. Sherman, who fought beside Moses Carrales, and the ceremony will be witnessed by the first American flag that was planted on California soil, will re-live a flag-raising which she witnessed on this same hill just sixty years ago.

Mrs. De Baker's mother was Dolores Estudillo, who was born at the Presidio at Monterey, about 1813. The father of Señora Dolores, Gen. José María Estudillo, who was commandant of the military forces in Alta California under the Spanish regime, moved his headquarters to San Diego, and it was there that Don Juan Bandini and Señora Dolores were married. Gen. Estudillo died at San Diego and was buried at the Presidio there.

Señor Bandini was a prominent resident of the San Diego pueblo when Stockton sailed into the bay in August, 1846, and it was there that three of his daughters with red and blue flannel and common white muslin strips constructed the Stars and Stripes that were hoisted by Stockton.

The elder daughter, Josefa, married Don Pedro C. Carrillo; the second daughter, Arcadia, married Don Abel Stearns, and the third daughter, Yildora, married Col. Cave J. Couss, one of the members of California's first Legislature. Of these three historic women, Arcadia is the only one living. She is in her eightieth year now—a grand dame, the story of whose life is a romance colored with exciting incidents connected with the affairs of two nations.

Señor Juan Bandini's father was Almirante José Bandini, who commanded the Spanish man-of-war Nimfa in the battle of Trafalgar in 1805. Arcadia's grandfather was buried in front of the altar of the Mission San Gabriel, and Arcadia, a beautiful girl but 13 years old, stood before this altar in the year 1840 when she was married to Don Juan Bandini.

Abel Stearns, a man of 30, Abel Stearns came to Monterey from Boston in 1829, drifted south and became the owner of Santa Catalina Island. He died at San Francisco in 1871. In his seventy-third year, in 1871, he was married to Col. Robert L. Baker, and at his death, in 1890, she again became a widow.

After her marriage to Stearns, Arcadia was brought to Los Angeles and took up her abode on the spot now occupied by the Baker Block, just south of the Plaza. The location is dear to her, and never, during all these years of changes, has she given up her apartments there, although she is making her home at present on Ocean Avenue in Santa Monica.

Although she has lived here sixty-six years, Mrs. Baker still clings to her mother tongue and speaks but little English. Could she tell us that

DEATH UNEXPECTED.

Victim of Speeding Car Who Was Not Thought to Be Seriously Hurt Dies Suddenly.

Gloehno Ventalora, No. 1534 Sacramento street, died at the General and Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon from injuries received in a street car accident Friday afternoon. When the accident occurred the surgeons who examined Ventalora, did not think that his condition was serious.

In attempting to leave an out-bound Maple avenue car at Twenty-seventh street and Maple avenue, while it was running at a high rate of speed, Ventalora was hurled to the street. He was sent to the Receiving Hospital and later to the General Hospital.

WATERMELON KILLS GIRL.

Little Nellie Raynard Chokes to Death Despite Efforts of Three Physicians.

Nellie, the 15-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Raynard, No. 531 West Fifty-sixth street, strangled to death yesterday afternoon while eating a piece of watermelon.

Despite the efforts of three physicians they were unable to save the life of the child.

Mrs. Raynard cut a watermelon, preparatory to placing it in an icebox, but was called from the room for a moment. Nellie was left in the room and when she was alone she toddled to the table and began to eat of one of the pieces of melon.

When a member of the family came into the room a short time later they found the little girl lying on the floor struggling in death agony. Doctors were sent for and every effort was made to save the child's life, but they were of no avail.

AT NAPLES.Swimming Contests Viewed by Immense Crowd.Kyle of San Diego Gets Two Sprint Races Easily.Winner of Ladies' Event Is an Eastern Beauty.In the presence of the largest crowd ever gathered on the shores of Ala-mitos Bay, the third annual tournament of the Southern California Swimming Association took place yesterday afternoon.The day and the location were ideal for aquatic sports, and the association pronounced it the best and most successful meet in the history of the association.Every available motor boat, skiff, and sailboat was on the bay, and the whole scene presented a beautiful picture and demonstrating the wonderful possibilities for the development of water sports.The contestants were in fine form, and that no records were broken is due to the fact that the swimmers had to contend with a strong tide current.The contests were for the amateur championships of the respective classes, and the results and the time of the winners were as follows:50-yard dash—Won by W. Kyle of San Diego; A. B. Miller, Bimble Bath, second; J. Hines, third; time 4:45.100-yard dash—Won by W. Kyle of San Diego; A. B. Miller, Bimble Bath,
second; J. Hines, third; time 1:15.50-yard girls' race—won by Mrs.
Emma Willis; Miss Lela J. Nelson of Avalon, second; Miss Virgil Nelson third; time 1:15.440 yards—won by Ben Wallington, L.A.A.V.; W. Kyle, second; Al Beir-hoff, Santa Monica, third; time 7:31.Half mile—won by Ben Wallington; Geo. Watkins, Ocean Park, second;
E. T. Brown, Avalon, third; time 15:2.The winner of the ladies' race attracted considerable attention. She years ago, when, as Emma Newkirk, she was awarded the $1000 prize at Madison Square, New York, for having the most perfectly developed form in America. Mrs. Willis recently returned from Rome and is now at Santa Monica.A feature of both the 440-yard and half-mile races was the finish with an Australian crawl by the winner of these heats, Ben Wallington. This was considered a remarkable feat, as while it is not unknown, it is exceedingly difficult after a long swim.Fancy diving by Prof. L. C. Con-cannon, George Watkins, Ed Keating, Ruin Mitchell, and high diving by 75-foot tower by Prof. Cox, were features of the afternoon's diversion.Bureaucratic fancy diving by F. B.
Raymond, dressed grotesquely as an original, was also interesting.The championship water polo game for the Naples club did not take place owing to the necessity for the Avalon players to return to Catalina last evening. The game, however, will be played next Sunday at Avalon.Alleging that the winner of the 50 and 100-yard dash, Mr. Kyle of San Diego, is in the professional class, one of the contestants filed a protest against the awarding of the medals in these classes to the San Diegoan.Inquiry among the officials of the association, however, does not substantiate the charge of professionalism, and it is not believed that it will elicit Referee A. A. Lawton has the matter under advisement.The first-prize medals were hand-somerly designed and of solid gold.
Second-prize medals were of silver and silver, third prize of silver.The presentation of the medals was made at the Channel Club by Secretary
Henry of the association.To L. A. Longstrech and Secretary Henry belongs much of the credit for the success of the tournament.Officials of the affair were:
Referee, A. A. Lawton; starter, R.
H. Dyke; announcer, T. Brown; judges of the heats, Sam Glick, L. L. Bell,
A. C. Parsons; timers, John Torrey, L. A. Henry, J. McDowell; clerk of course, William Cline; committee, C.
Pardee, A. M. Parsons, Mayor McAleer, Phil Stanton, Rudolph Mansard.The Motor and the Avalon were chartered by Avalon devotees of the sport and brought over a large number of Catalina people to witness the contests.Nineteen Cars Are Entered in Big art came out today when Gloucester announced it will wait a day or two before fixing the date of this week's fight. The battleship squadron of the North Atlantic fleet is now off Rockport, in command of Admiral Evans,

OUTSIDE SAN PEDRO.Trollers Catching All Kinds of Big Fish and Getting Some Strikes of Tuna—One Is Taken—Yellowtail, Bass and Bonita Feeding—Along-shore Game.Heavy fishing in the Catalina channel was in being coming to its own this week, but the long spell of heat has borne steadily ripening fruit for two weeks now, and the entire gamut of trailing game from bass to tuna are being taken outside San Pedro, as well as along the coast from Santa Monica to Newport.Enthusiastically about threading the lanes of kelp like beads of burnished gold, the ever game yel-lowtail have gladdened spoon dragners by their presence and perennial willingness to engage in combat until rare indeed is the party that does not find these fine fellows at home.A little farther at sea the bonita are busy rounding up sardines, while in the open spaces between islands of beach where feathery jays rise and fall upon the measured breathing of the sea, tempered by its passage through the submarine gardens to a gentle suggestion of sleep, herds of hungry bass are hurrying hither and thither in their daily grind of chopping up the anchovies. A picture for a sweeter poet than ever sung.The favored few who see, feel its security and the peace of the sea describe its peaceful charm—peaceful, although yet it is conflict there in the deep green sunlight of San Pedro are ending yet smaller for their daily bread: the mighty tuna himself flees from the fierce snap of the hammer-head's serrated jaws, and the only impression is restful.Rod and reel trolling in the Catalina channel will never attain its old served popularity on the side, for there is no great corporation to advertise its attractions, and only a handful of boatmen, until recently too busy cutting each other's throats to profit by it. Nor do these boatmen realize that the harbor is a treasure house while, and one that by proper handling should yield them as handsome profit as that of the Catalina launches. So instead of building up a trade, they take what luck sends, daily with handliners who probably never will come again, and export more than a fair compensation—more dearly got indeed. Then comes another element; men are prone to go farther for their sport than they need Last week's exploits outside San Pedro were topped by the capture of a sixty-eight-pound tuna, which died ignominiously at the end of a hand-line and laid hold of a bone flie, doubtless taking it for a fat squid. Even on such primitive tackle the creature put up a tremendous fight, and two men had their hands full setting it into a bucket. Other strikes failed to hold the fish.Schools of flying fish, like flocks of sea quail have been breaking from the water before the bows of launch at all week, and the capture of tuna on this side of the channel becomes daily more of a sporting proposition. It is not interesting to note the effect of a 75

dryness of flavor.
The troy troller does well to begin outside education on the bass.
These are capable of carrying away tackle, too, if handled carefully, and are not always easy to hook. On gear of strength proportioned to their size, bass put up the prettiest of fights and apply every one for the trouble of seeing them—if trouble be a proper name for it.Clam casters, alongshore have reported uniformly good sport, a number of days past, and the fish continue running of very respectable size which is a better bit of news. Usually the month of July finds the "nipper" surf very prevalent; bait vanishes from the hooks like magic, and the little things when hooked fail to excite that thrill of pleasure evoked in the most good-blooded of anglers when a good-sized fish starts to run from the hook-prick.Fishing along the west coast for yel-lowfin is largely followed nowadays with most satisfactory results in the main. The fish are both big and plentiful. Manhattan has been a favorite ground for this class of sport, and the popular bait, fat sandcrabs, is also in excellent supply.There are many things worse in fishing than standing upon the beach, waiting for the fish to turn to ebb, casting far out into the breakers and feeling strike after strike as the three-pounder yellowfin get busy with the bait. One never has long to wait when they are hitting at all. For its weight, there is about as much action in the yellowfin as in any fish that swims. Occasional surf and croakers may be looked for for variety.Twenty or thirty yellowfins weighing from one and a half to four pounds apiece have often been caught in a single tide while fishing from the beach north of Manhattan.Mackerel are biting better as September draws near, and "corned" fish on the whole, the fishermen are well

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

Friends of the well-known violinist, Wenzel Koppa, who has just returned from his tour of the city, have organized a committee to make Los Angeles his headquarters. Koppa has been in the city for some time, but as in the case of many other well-known musicians, there is room for a slip between the ear and the eye. Among the friends of the violinist, who are now coming down—but who are in San Francisco, nevertheless, are the violinist, Wenzel Koppa, and the orchestra director, Giulio.

BURGLAR ALARM
FOOLS OFFICER.WE SEIZE PASADENA MERCHANT
KNEELING IN STORE.

Proprietors of Jewelry Shop Neglect to Turn Off Police Signal and Blue Coat Rushes to Capture—Finds Men in Place and Proceeds to Nab Them—Explanation Follows.

Office of the Times, No. 22 S. Raymond Ave.
PASADENA, Aug. 12.—The burglar alarm in Kendall & Smith's jewelry store, on East Colorado street, began ringing vigorously about 3 o'clock tonight, notifying the police department that a burglary was in progress. The police rushed to the store, determined to capture the criminals at any hazard.

When Longley arrived at the place he peered through the crack of the door and seeing two men in the back of the store, he pulled out his revolver and carefully laid himself into the building. With cat-like tread he moved along the aisle back to the place where he saw the men, one of whom was kneeling with his back to the door.

Determined that they should not escape him, Longley grabbed one of them by the shoulder, calling upon both to surrender. The man who had been kneeling turned in surprise and the officer then discovered that he had laid hands on one of the proprietors of the store.

After hasty explanation an investigation was made and it was discovered that the men on entering the store had not taken the precaution to turn off the burglar alarm and that the signal had been flashed to the police station. The alarm had gone off several times before and the police have become wary, and for that reason Longley was determined to arrest a burglar tonight if it were possible.

LOCAL TEAM DEFEATED.
The Pasadena baseball team was defeated on the home grounds this afternoon by the Hamburgers of Los Angeles by 15 to 11. The team has changed its name from Meyer's team to the Pasadena team and today's game was the first played under the new title. The players were uniformed in the new suits with the word, Pasadena, embroidered across the front of the blouses.

The boys feel it keenly that they should have been defeated in the first game in which they represented the city. The Hamburgers put up a snappy game of ball. From the first inning up to the first of the ninth it was anybody's game. The odds, however, were too strong for the local players. The holding of the visiting team was particularly strong and many hits made by the home players went for nothing. There was a large and enthusiastic crowd in attendance.

NAB THREE DRUNKEN MEN.
Juan Barajas, a Mexican, filled up on liquor this afternoon and proceeded to make things lively on the street. So exceedingly sojour was he that the attention of Officer Pierce was called to his condition and he was escorted to the police station and provided with a bed. He did not sober up sufficiently to be set at liberty so the jailer concluded that he might as well remain the guest of the city through the night. Tomorrow he will have a chance to explain to Judge McDonald how it all happened.

San Meyer, having imbibed more of the juice of the grape than was good for him, fell into the dragnet of the law, represented by Officers Nicoll, Palmer and Schultz, early this morning, and was taken to the police station where he was booked on a charge of drunkenness. Later he was allowed to depart after having deposited $5 bail money.

Bill Johnson gazed too long on the cup that cheers this evening and when he recovered from the effects of his gazing, found himself in the Police Station. He was unable to understand how it all happened, but as there were a couple of heavy fellows around him he concluded to head over the $5 demanded by the desk sergeant and go his way. Officer Schultz made the arrest.

COYOTE KILLS CHICKENS.
The coyote which created consternation among North Pasadena chicken raisers a couple of weeks ago has again made its appearance. Several residents of the northern section have found traces of the midnight marauder around their chicken coops morning and in one or two cases a missing hen with nothing but a few stray feathers to show what had happened, has been discovered. A fine collection of steel traps and other weapons of offense have been laid in and if the newsome visitor returns he will not get away unscathed.

COW RUINS GARDENS.
A loose cow created more or less havoc in North Pasadena gardens night before last and several citizens, who have been nursing beds of lettuce and other kitchen vegetables, found that there was naught but ruin yesterday morning, where the night before, all had been serene. Two men made vain attempts to catch the animal, but she proved too sly and did not allow herself to be enticed within reach of a trap. A cow or two cases she broke down fences and did other minor damage.

GUESTS AT SWITZER'S.
The following are guests at Switzer's Camp: Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hall, New York City; Mrs. M. S. Sinner, Altadena; Mrs. Agnes McCrech, W. W. Bennett, Altadena; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Edwards, George C. Brainerd, Pasadena; A. Broderick, Los Angeles; A. R. Bixby, A. E. Meyers and family, Pasadena; H. F. Cartwright, San Francisco; Mrs. J. C. Cook, Long Beach; Miss Maud King, Whittier; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stevens, South Pasadena; Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Townsend, South Pasadena; J. S. Gilmour, Pasadena; A. von Krause, Los Angeles.

CAVE IN BURIES MEXICAN.
A Mexican, working for the contractor having the excavation work for the new Bailey building on South Raymond avenue in charge, was overwhelmed yesterday by a cave-in and buried beneath several hundred pounds of earth. There was not a sufficiently large amount of fallen earth to endanger the life of the man had the earth been all that he had to contend with, but unfortunately a water pipe was broken by the fall and the unfortunate man was nearly drowned before his comrades were able to dig him out of the ruins. When finally brought to the light of day he was plastered with mud from head to foot.

PEACE DECLARED
IN DREDGER WAR.LONG BEACH CONTEST ENDED
AFTER LONG CONFERENCE.

C. Dana Burke, President of Company, Succeeds in Securing Truce in Controversy and Guards Are Withdrawn from Scene of Clash. Many at Convention Services.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 12.—The dove of peace has settled temporarily on the dyke which marks the boundary line, west of which is disputed by the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company and the San Pedro Salt Works.

The clam-shell dredger was idle today, while the Dunn family enjoyed a peaceful Sunday at home. A truce has been declared, which promises to be permanent, and the credit of it is due to C. Dana Burke, president of the Dock and Terminal Company, who took the aggressive Saturday by causing the arrest of the Dunn family on charges of exhibiting a deadly weapon and making threats. It was after the bonds had been signed that President Burke held out the olive branch in a proposition that caught the reasonable side of the Dunn family.

In a few minutes a conference was arranged for last night, with a condition that pending its results the dredger should cease operations. At the conference there were present the officials of both companies and their counsel. After several hours, and although no definite agreement was reached, a temporary truce was agreed to and an attempt will be made to have another conference Monday.

In the meantime the Los Angeles Dock and Terminal people have agreed not to resume their attempt to move onto the disputed territory without giving the Dunn family notice. Consequently the dredger was idle today, and no guards were patrolling the dyke.

MANY ATTEND SERVICES.
Large audiences attended all the services of the Christian convention today at the Auditorium. Monday will be State-Blessing day. At 9 o'clock Prof. Willett will lecture on "Paul, the Man, the Field and the Task."

The remainder of the morning will be taken up with the reports of President C. C. Chapman, Secretary Grant S. Lewis, Treasurer A. K. Crawford and the report of committees. In the evening Prof. Willett will give "An Outline and Chronology of the Ministry of the Redeemer."

RAILWAY PLAN DISCARDED.
The railway promised up Signal Hill several months of old-country churches. The Pacific Electric began operations and spent $2000 in filling, erecting bridges and grading, and had ties on the ground. Suddenly they quit work and for the next two weeks have been hauling the material away. No reason has been assigned, and it looks as if an independent company will have to be found by some one who have purchased on the hill and are planning handsome summer homes.

CARS WRECKED RUNAWAY.
The Pasadena Bank, which is being wrecked by a runaway car, built from the street into the bank to protect customers from falling bricks and timbers. This afternoon two Pacific Electric cars, rounding the corner at First and Pine streets crashed into the structure and reduced it to original lumber. In falling the timbers struck the W.C.T.U. fountain, breaking it.

LOST BOY SENT HOME.
Jack Stewart, aged 4, who said he lived on West Twenty-third street, Los Angeles, was found wandering on the beach today. He was taken care of by Officer Frank until late this evening, but no one claiming him, he was placed in care of a Pacific Electric conductor, who knew the boy and sent him home.

LONG BEACH BREVITIES.
The baseball team of Co. H, Seventh Regiment, were defeated by a score of 15 to 5 by the Y.M.C.A. team Saturday night. The game was played at the beach and the police teams will play on the High School grounds.

The sea was quiet today and hunting was a breeze. In the morning a woman's father was caught in the current, but good swimmers rescued him. A fine collection of steel traps and other weapons of offense have been laid in and if the newsome visitor returns he will not get away unscathed.

SIERRA MADRE BULLETINS.
SIERRA MADRE, Aug. 12.—P. R. Yerxa, formerly a leading grocerman of Minneapolis, has bought the Blair place, "Arbita," on East Central avenue. It comprises ten acres and is one of the best grove groves on the slope.

Mrs. W. P. Caley and her daughters are taking a month's outing at Mount Wilson.

L. Smith and wife and Miss Clinch left today with a party of Los Angeles pleasure seekers to visit points of interest up the coast at far north of Vancouver.

Don Baxter entertained his girl and boy friends at a cowboy party Friday evening at Hotel Sierra Madre. Last evening the Mt. Wilson Hotel guests enjoyed a musical treat, a serenade by a party of fifteen Los Angeles musicians who are camping at Strain's Camp.

LARGE VESSEL MAKES PORT.
SANTA MONICA, Aug. 12.—The big British sailing vessel Lucifera, in command of Capt. Witt, arrived at Port Los Angeles today from Antwerp with a general cargo consigned to Balfour Guthrie & Co. The vessel had a quick and uneventful voyage, having been only sixty-six days on the way. The Lucifera is of 175 tons burden.

there ran in some form or another the traditions of a promise. In the Hebrew it was a definite promise. "We know that the hopes of all humanity were centered in Christ to come and now come. For years the world has known that the promise that was made by God has been fulfilled, and that Christ came to redeem man from sin. He came to point the way of life. He came to tell us what to do to help us do it. He pointed to the cross as the source of the strength by which every man redeemed in His blood might be able to fulfill the obligations of his life.

"He is the messenger from the throne of God commissioned to tell the truth, the whole truth of God, and to warn men of the danger of not accepting His offer of life. What does it mean? Does it mean that every man shall be free to do what he pleases with that which Christ offered him? We must look to Christ for the answer to that question. We must find from Him what His law is.

"We read that Christ definitely determined how salvation shall be obtained. He established an authority on earth. He selected men, He vested them with His power. He called that vested power His church, and He promised to be with it to the end of time, to protect it forever, so that all men in all time, speaking all languages, living in all climes, might be certain of His truth. For there is no possibility of salvation except through Him.

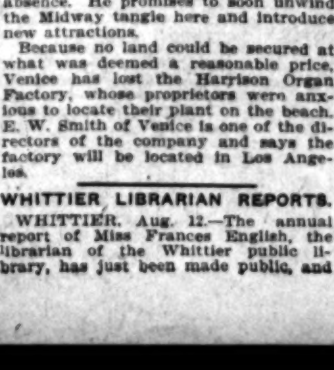

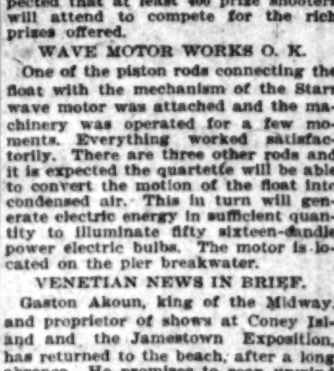

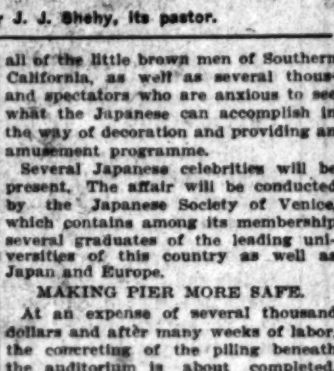

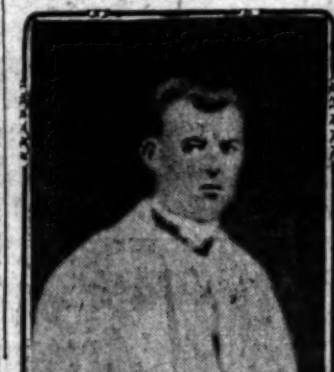

Let you and I realize that Christ still lives, still preaches, still redeems, but we must go to that which He established as the great means by which His law comes into your soul and mine and redeem us and save us for eternal happiness with Christ in heaven."

HEALTH IS WEALTH

Perfection in the Practice of Medicine is reached in California
Broadway Physicians' and Surgeons' Association
817 South Broadway, 3rd Floor, (Remick Building)

To be happy and successful in any undertaking, no matter whether it be mechanical, commercial or professional, one must first be equipped with health. Neglect this and you neglect everything. Abuse that which every man and woman is born with, and you are handicapped. Your strength lessened, while your neighbors and competitors, strong physically, forge ahead, energetic, successful and happy, while you are discouraged and miserable, drop to the rear.

Many people are doing fairly well, burdened with a load of disease, and imagine that is all there is in their life, but soon as they master their deadly foe, they will be astonished at the success and enjoyment that will follow.

WE CURE WHILE OTHERS TREAT
We would be pleased to show any interested person more than a hundred letters and references of cured and pleased patients, many of whom have failed to obtain relief elsewhere. Read a well known citizen of Tropic, Calif., has to say regarding cure and treatment.

Broadway Physicians' and Surgeons' Association.
After taking one month's treatment at your Association and a very bad case of catarrh, deafness and strictures of the urinary tract were cured to the extent that the tests flooded down my bladder, causing me great annoyance and injuring my eyesight. I am now rapidly being destroyed. It is a great wonder to me that I could possibly receive such benefit in so short a time. Your Association does exactly as it promised by me and I will gladly recommend your treatment to this month.

A GRAND OFFER TO SICK PEOPLE
This extraordinary offer is made for the month of August only, owing to favorable climatic conditions, the exceedingly low cost of care and attention. This price will cover all the cases of catarrh, deafness, strictures, etc., and will be supplied with the best of medicine and surgery. Remember: This rate is open only for those beginning or continuing treatment during August and that we reserve the right to include all incurable cases from our guarantee offer. ## FRENCH FIGHT AGAINST POLES.

ALL ELECTRIC WIRES THERE ARE NOW UNDERGROUND.

The New York Tribune calls attention to the fact that France has awakened to the danger incurred by the disfigurement of her cities by overhead electric poles, and that now all her electric wires are placed underground. The distribution of electric energy throughout Southern France is proceeding rapidly. New York years ago forbade the erection of telegraph poles in the heart of the metropolis, and the action of France now is really following in her footsteps. Two companies are now preparing to deliver electricity through the city of Marseilles, and neither has been permitted to raise a single pole.

Great progress has been made in the manufacture of underground cables, which are carefully insulated and rendered impermeable, so that they may be laid in ordinary trenches, usually like gas pipes. As a rule, when the trench is prepared a layer of crushed limestone is spread on the bottom, and after the cable is put in place it is covered by thin bricks, so as to minimize the danger of fire.

The methods adopted are comparatively cheap, and are said to involve no danger to life or property, or commercial disadvantages. As the location of breaks can be determined before a pick is placed in the earth, just as flaws in ocean cables can be located, the construction of permanent underground conduits is dispensed with.

The action of the French government prohibiting the raising of electric poles in the streets of the city was promulgated on June 15 last. No pretense is made of fixing any hard and fast rules which might hold electrical development in check, but a few general principles are set forth, and the practical questions arising are specifically requested for the right to transmit energy are turned over to a committee for solution. It is clearly set forth in the law that the security of the public will be provided for by administrative regulation, and that companies obtaining concessions will be required to compensate the state, the department and the communes for the occupation of the public domain, according to the principle of expropriation.

Instructions will be issued by the authorities, acting under advice from the committee on electricity, in regard to the technical conditions under which the distribution of electricity may be undertaken. These instructions will be based upon the security of persons and of the interested public services, and the protection of the landscape. These conditions will be subject to annual revision, so that the government will be able to keep pace with progress in electrical engineering.

INDIANS ARE HUMAN. Arizona Navajo Capable of Much Joy and Good Cheer—Elders Like Children.

In an article, "With the Free in Arizona," in the June Recreation, Julian Dimock tells something of the home life of the Navajo Indians that shows them capable of as much joy and good cheer as any of us.

"One day as I was using my camera and an Indian boy by my side made signs that he wanted to see. With his head dimmed, he seemed to be looking for a long time at the ground glass, and then asked what made things go up and down. He seemed to be very interested in the camera, and when I showed him the picture he looked at it with a smile. Several Indian women followed his example and the merriest scene was witnessed. The women of the Navajo are as much as we, and they are not at all different from the women of the world. They are human, and they are capable of as much joy and good cheer as any of us.

"When the dinner hour found us far from the store we often went to some near-by Hogan, and joining the circle round the sagbrush fire, we enjoyed ourselves to dine with the family. Usually the dinner was of mutton, broiled over the coals on a gridiron improvised from pieces of heavy wire; ears of green corn roasted before the fire, and a kind of ash cake made from corn ground into meal, mixed with water and salt, wrapped in green husks and cooked in the ashes. Often the Indians were like a group of children; jokes passed back and forth and every one laughed and merriment. Some merriment over a remark that seemed to have concerned me led me to ask for a translation: 'The woman says that one of the dogs has been carrying this stick you are using as a fork around in his mouth.' There was a single knife, and a family spoon did stirring duty in many cups; but the forks, being fingers, were not individual. An Indian seated opposite me, with grave expression and dignified manner, seemed like a character from one of Cooper's novels. For the passing of a pipe of peace and an Indian oration, but when this noble man lifted his hand to a coarse meal, forward and tickle with a feather one of the children. He then quickly resumed his former attitude and assumed an expression of outraged innocence when accused by the tickled child.

VENTURANS WILL VOTE TOMORROW.

FOUR CONTESTS WAGED AT RE-PUBLICAN PRIMARIES.

Political Captains Making Ready to Make Strong Fight Over Nominations for Assessor, Auditor, Tax Collector and Coroner—Colored Woman Given Term in Prison.

VENTURA, Aug. 12.—Preparations are being made throughout the county for the Republican primaries, which are to be held on Tuesday, August 14. While there are pretty hot fights on for four of the nominations, those of Assessor, Auditor, Tax Collector and Coroner, the state has been made up for the chief offices, and the program will not be disputed for the nominations for Sheriff, County Clerk, District Attorney, School Superintendent and County Treasurer.

For the office of Assessor, which office has never been filled by a Republican, there is a warm contest in the precincts between John Barry, who was defeated for the office by a Democrat at the last election, and H. K. Snow of Huemene, who is making strenuous fight to win the nomination.

For Auditor, an office now filled by Democrat, Alvin and George Sackett are rivals. The campaign is of the quiet kind, and neither are making much effort to elect delegates. The primary campaign has been in the fight for Tax Collector between George Mickel, C. H. Bradley and Capt. Fernald of Santa Paula. The two former candidates are making a little stir there, but it is only a ripple. Santa Paula, a young man who is being supported by local citrus fruit interests, will have no opposition.

So far the Democrats have done little, but there is no doubt they will make a fight against progressive methods. The Democrats now hold several of the best offices in the county and will make a strong effort to retain these.
